State Highway Map 2002

Dear Arkansas Travelers:

We don't call Arkansas the Natural State without a good reason. Arkansas can offer the kind of natural beauty you've been searching for whether you're canoeing in the Ozark Mountains, fishing in the Ouachita Mountains, hunting ducks in the Delta, or watching in the pine woods of south Arkansas, taking in the Arkansas River Valley or taking a leisurely drive along Crowley's Ridge.

People are tired of long commutes and rush-hour gridlock. That's why our rural roads provide a welcome respite for so many Americans. Along those roads you'll find the finest system of state parks in the country. This also is the best state in the nation for fishing and hunting. We offer thousands of acres of beautiful lakes and hundreds of miles of unspoiled streams. Every part of our diverse state has something special to offer. You'll discover we've combined high technology and natural beauty to offer a unique quality of life.

The extensive network of highways shown on this map is maintained by the Arkansas State Highway and Transportation Department under the direction of the five-member Arkansas Highway Commission. Thanks to the overwhelming approval of a major bond issue by Arkansas voters in June 1996, we're in the middle of the largest highway construction and rehabilitation project in state history. You'll already encounter construction zones along your travels. In a few years, though, we'll have the smoothest interstate highways in America.

Please drive carefully and enjoy yourself as you travel the Natural State.

A Special Welcome From the Arkansas State Highway Commission and the Director

Commission invites you to explore scenic Arkansas with its variety of relaxing natural resources. Our state has pristine lakes and rivers, forests, fertile uplands and even a natural prairie. Highways provide scenic views - mountaintops to lush green valleys, rolling hills to the fertile delta - exposing the unparalleled beauty that is part of our heritage. Our forests, rivers and lakes are rich with wildlife and provide unlimited recreational opportunities.

As you travel our Interstate Highway System, you will notice improvements being made that are being financed with voter approved bonds. The bond proceeds are funding an extensive Interstate Rehabilitation Program. Repairs and reconstruction during the next five years will greatly improve our interstates, which are vital and integral parts of the nationwide Interstate Highway System.

We ask that you explore the Natural State as safely and pleasantly as possible. We have initiated a public information program to assist you with information about delays, lane closures and other travel conditions is provided on message boards located at construction sites, local radio stations and our department's Internet Web site.

We ask that you observe posted speed limits, merging signs and no passing zones, local radio stations and our department's Internet Web site.
